

An illuminated manuscript page featuring a central rectangular frame containing the word "Alleluia" written in a large, elegant, red Gothic script. The page is surrounded by a wide, intricate border of green vines with small leaves, interspersed with blue and red flowers, and several crossed swords or spears. The entire composition is set against a light beige background.

Alleluia